

U. F. A. FEDERAL CONVENTION AT MACLEOD RENOMINATES GEORGE GIBSON COOTE

MITCHELL PROTESTS SIDE-TRACKING NORTH ALBERTA RAILWAY PROBLEM

EDMONTON, Aug. 3.—With packed galleries on hand watching for some sensational turn of events of the legislature today, the first duel took place over the Northern Railway question between Premier Greenfield and Hon. C. R. Mitchell, opposition leader, when the latter protested against the government delaying the introduction of the E. D. and B. C. matters in the House by bringing down a statement on the natural resources and proceeding to move a hurry-up resolution on Ottawa for the acceptance of the draft agreement.

The premier submitted his statement on the natural resources situation by means of a motion to adjourn the house on a matter of great public importance which, of course, had to be withdrawn before the House rose for the day. Mr. Mitchell protested that this was an unfair way to bring down the question since the House had no opportunity to digest the statement, correspondence and agreement presented, before the debate was closed. He asked that the government delay debate on the premier's follow-up resolution until members had time to go into the case.

"The House has been reconvened to deal with two questions only," replied the premier, "the natural resources and the railway question, and we are not in a position today to bring down the railway agreement. Consequently I have given you the position of the natural resources negotiations." He added, however, the government had no desire to press the resources resolution until the House was prepared to go on with it.

"The natural resources question is of the utmost importance," retorted Mr. Mitchell, "but it has been standing over some years and no harm will ensue if it is allowed to stand over until the northern railway matter is disposed of. This resolution is most pressing; a large delegation of northern residents is here at considerable expense to urge that some solution be arrived at, and this House should deal with first things first."

Railway Statement

The premier said he expected to have a statement on the railway issue Tuesday afternoon. The opposition leader, he thought, was becoming unduly alarmed.

"Surely we have not been called here to pass one plous resolution asking Ottawa to hurry up and accept the natural resources agreement," remarked R. C. Marshall.

"Will legislation be brought in to implement the premier's statement to the House regarding the railway question?" asked C. R. Mitchell.

The premier at first ignored the query and asked that his motion of adjournment be withdrawn, but after Mr. Mitchell had pressed for an answer, he retorted: "The question will be answered at the right time."

At the opening of the House, Premier Greenfield moved a resolution of regret at the death of W. G. Johnston, late Labor member for Medicine Hat, this being replied to by P. M. Christophers, Labor member for Rocky Mountain, and C. R. Mitchell, opposition leader.

Absentees at the re-opening session were W. M. Davidson and F. White, Calgary; Hon. C. W. Cross, Edson; A. M. Matheson, Vegreville; E. E. Sparks, Wetaskiwin; Wm. Shield, Macleod; W. Fedun, Victoria.

A. A. MCGILLIVRAY NEW PROVINCIAL CONSERVATIVE LEADER

EDMONTON, Aug. 6.—In a convention which was marked by unanimity and enthusiasm the Conservatives of the province of Alberta at a large attended and representative gathering Wednesday afternoon, selected A. A. McGillivray, K.C., of Calgary, as the new provincial leader. The nomination was proposed by A. F. Ewing, K.C., of this city, and was seconded by J. W. Carlyle, of Calgary. Support was given by William Cousins, of Medicine Hat, J. W. G. Morrison, of Vermilion, and the motion that nominations close was carried without a dissenting voice. The election of Mr. McGillivray was greeted with prolonged applause, which was renewed when he came to the front and expressed his acceptance of the honor.

VANCOUVER WINS PERMIT DISPUTE

Vancouver, July 30.—Vancouver has won and restrictions on grain coming to the port have been lifted with the abolition today of the permit system.

A despatch received at noon from Winnipeg brought the news of release from "red tape" measures which had threatened to impede Vancouver's progress in a grain export and trading center.

While announcement of the removal of restrictions came from the Canadian National Railway's western headquarters the grain trade in Vancouver has no doubt that the new rule will apply on the Canadian Pacific as well as the Canadian National Railway.

LETHBRIDGE HOTEL MAN KILLED IN AUTO CRASH

LETHBRIDGE, July 31.—William Patterson, aged 50 years, manager of the new Arlington hotel, was killed outright last night when the Oakland four-passenger car he was driving left the newly gravelled road on the east grade of the Monarch hill and turned turtle over an embankment some 30 feet to the bottom.

William Porter, 81 years of age, proprietor of the Alexandra Hotel and Lethbridge old-timer, was in the car with Mr. Patterson, his son-in-law, when the tragedy occurred. He escaped with a slight cut on the wrist and bruises on the arms and shoulders but is suffering from shock. There will be no inquest, Coroner J. W. McNeel holding that death was due purely to accident.

Loses Control of Car

According to the story told by Mr. Porter, they were returning from Calgary and reached the Monarch hill about six o'clock. They approached a portion of the road newly built on a shelf of the hill. The road at this point is practically level. The car was travelling close to the right bank when Patterson, in attempting to steer it back into the center of the grade apparently lost control of the car in the deep, loose gravel and instead of turning it straight ahead the machine plunged over the embankment. When discovered the car was lying on its side in the old road.

"When the car left the road I heard William utter a sharp cry. I hardly realized what was happening but I felt the car turn over and roll down the hill and crash. I felt no pain but my wrist was bleeding. I made a desperate effort to free myself and finally managed to make an opening through the top of the car. I called vainly to William. Then I examined him and concluded that he was dead. Help came along soon afterwards and we were brought to the city. It all happened very suddenly, but I think William's trouble was in steering the car in the loose gravel. We were not driving fast," said Mr. Porter this morning.

Neck Broken

Examination by a doctor showed that Patterson's neck was broken and that death had been instantaneous.

William Patterson was well and favorably known in the city. He was born in Edinburgh, Scotland, and married Mrs. Porter's daughter in Buffalo, N.Y. They have one child, a daughter, 17 years of age. Details of the funeral will not be given until relatives in the east and in Oregon have been heard from.

conducting a campaign against the permit system.

Farmers Complain

Up to the present it has been necessary for shippers using the western route to do so on such a scale as to be able to make arrangements to have grain loaded on ships out of Vancouver before they received permission to put grain into the port. Farmers have complained of this condition and have pressed for free use of the facilities here.

It is expected that the railways and port officials will replace the unsatisfactory features of the old system with improvements while retaining in some measure the beneficial effect it has had in avoiding congestion in time of extra heavy traffic.

To Be Wide Open

As a result of the new ruling by the railways Vancouver is expected to be wide open to grain from the prairies while her facilities are running freely and that restriction will only be exercised again in the event of a "jam."

MACLEOD, Aug. 3.—George Gibson Coote, M.P., was the unanimous choice of an open convention of U.F.A. members at the town hall here Monday afternoon, August 3rd, to contest the Macleod federal constituency at the approaching Dominion election.

Mr. Coote's name was the only one placed in nomination, being put forward by H. C. Wingate of Cayley, seconded by E. J. Leavitt of Glenwood and accepted amidst great applause.

Farmer Balance of Power

"I do not wish to pose as a political prophet," said the Ginger Group member for Macleod, "but when I left Ottawa the prediction was that the Liberals would lose seats to the Conservatives in the maritimes and generally east of Fort William. I do not see how either of the old parties can have a majority over either of the other two parties. If we elect a solid Progressive or Farmer bloc from the West I believe we will hold the balance of power in the next house."

"People may say this is not a very high ideal. But when you understand the situation at Ottawa you will agree with me when I say I don't think there is anything wrong in stating that, to whatever party gives us justice in the West, we will give our support."

Not a National Party

There was nothing in Mr. Coote's speeches during the afternoon to indicate any hope that the Progressive party has any hope except in the West. Four years ago there was a strong hope that Ontario would stick to the Farmer banner. That hope has been blasted, and Mr. Coote's remarks left it plainly understood he had no other hope than that Western Progressives would hold the balance of power in the next house.

Freight Rates Big Issue

So far as issues at the next election are concerned, the nominee declared that the freight rates battle is the big one, and far transcends in importance the tariff.

He urged that the West needed stronger representation on the Board of Railway Commissioners than one in six at present. "That one," he stated, referring to Hon. Frank Oliver, "spends most of his time writing minority judgments." Asked from the audience if he didn't consider a fruitless sort of business letting the West no relief, Mr. Coote replied that if the West had three members on the board as it should have, their representations would not so easily be ignored.

Against Reduced Indemnity

The member declared his stand on the question of the $4000 member's indemnity by stating that he expected that, at an early session, a resolution would be moved to reduce this amount. Unless otherwise instructed by this convention, he would oppose this reduction. Four thousand dollars, he held, was not too much of a salary especially for a western member who must spend six months of the year at Ottawa. Eastern members might be able to take a cut because they can go home often and look after their business; not so western members.

150 Delegates

There was no doubt what the delegates gathered from High River to the Boundary and from Pincher Creek east to Rocky Coulee think about the outcome of the next election. There were about 150 of them, fairly representative of the United Farmers, and they believe it is only a matter of time to re-elect Mr. Coote. It was so easy in 1921 that the only thing any of them seemed to be afraid of was lethargy among the farmers. They were warned that such lethargy existed, for, according to the secretary's report the books show slightly less than 500 paid-up members in the U.F.A., U.F.W.A., and Junior U.F.A. at the present time. It was reported, however from several sections of the hall, that, with an election in sight and something to fight for, the membership was increasing. Nanton reporting a tripling of the paid-up membership in the past few weeks.

The convention gathered for a short session in the morning for the naming of credentials and resolutions committees. Gathering again at 1:30 under the chairmanship of Stephen Lunn of Pincher Creek, resolutions were dealt with. Mr. Coote was nominated and officers were elected all before five o'clock. It was short and snappy.

Officers Elected

Officers elected during the afternoon were:
President—Stephen Lunn, Pincher Creek.

Vice-president—Wm. Shield, M.L.A., Macleod.

Secretary-treasurer—H. F. Spencer, Cayley.

Directors—H. C. Wingate, Cayley; G. Heaver, Okotoks; G. C. Melendy, Carleton Place; S. P. Hunter, Pincher Creek; J. P. Ross, Granum; Mr. Horner, Macleod; and E. J. Leavitt, Cardston.

In his presidential address Mr. Lunn said the purpose of the convention was two-fold, to consider resolutions to be passed on to the provincial convention, and to nominate a candidate should that be the wish of the delegates. He warned that the members had been getting slack. Some seemed to think political action was the chief aim of the organization but their economic problems were ever with them and had to be solved as well. He had, himself seen at Ottawa last winter that one task of the farmers was to put an end to party politics, but the co-operative marketing movement had to be pushed through to success and the pools could not function without the support of the farmers. The U.F.A., he declared, was the common meeting ground of the pools.

Member's Address

Called upon, Mr. Coote, who was received with applause, said that four years ago he had told the people that, if elected, he would work for a united Canada. He had tried to do that though he had often felt at Ottawa that the East was too much inclined to treat the West assistant cashier frankly declares that he loves the young woman and intends to win her away from the man she married.

In his despair the husband listens to the suggestions of a broker to use some of the bank's securities in Wall Street speculation. The market collapses, the cashier loses the bank's securities and brands him a thief. The banker, who knows of the quarrel between the two men and who has been displeased by the assistant's speculations, accuses the latter of having stolen the valuable paper. The assistant denies his guilt and urges that the broker be called in to tell who gave him the bonds, but the banker informs him that the broker has been ruined and has committed suicide.

The cashier remains silent during the accusation, confident in the knowledge that the broker's death wipes out all evidence against the real thief. As the assistant cashier is about to be arrested, the cashier confesses and is led off to prison.

The wife, brought to a realization that her love for Henry has brought on the catastrophe, pleads with the banker, declaring that she is really the guilty one. The banker relents and sends the two to a southern plantation to start life anew.

Richard Dix plays the cashier, Claire Adams appears as the wife, Neil Hamilton has the part of the assistant cashier, Robert Edson plays the banker, Henry Stephenson is cast in the role of the broker and Flora Finch is seen as the wife's newly rich aunt from the west.

as colonies had been treated long ago—theirs to do with as they pleased.

He was for a united Canada, but only on the basis of justice to Western Canada. The last election had shown what the farmers of the West can do by organization, and it was by means of that organization that he hoped to see justice done the West eventually.

The Banking Business

Dealing with his work at Ottawa, Mr. Coote said that much of his time had been confined to the banking and commerce committee. He said the bankers had had their own way in Canada the past 50 years, and could not easily be shaken from control. The banking situation in Canada today is in a very unsatisfactory condition. There have been so many amalgamations that today there are left only 10 banks of which four control some 80 per cent. of the deposits and two 50 per cent. of the deposits of the past 50 years. They have, I believe, more power almost than the government itself," said the speaker.

Rural Credits

On the question of rural credits the speaker said he had fought for some legislation for three years. This year, at the last week of the session a measure providing for $10,000,000 for rural credits was introduced, and passed by the House the second last day of the session. He said the Senate had thrown the measure out on the ground that not enough time had been given for consideration, and on that ground he could not blame the session very much. The measure was inadequate in view of the fact that some $400,000,000 of mortgage loans have been made in the West alone.

Mr. Coote also detailed his fight against the present practice of R. W. Broadner, commissioner of taxation, and a former employee of the Canadian Manufacturers' Association, in refusing publicity to the business profits tax, though that official had admitted that some firms had not received a tax notice for five years in the past 10 years, and had threatened to pay should bankruptcy threaten. "But you farmers no doubt know of farmers in the West who have had their lands sold for two years' tax arrears," added the speaker. He said the probing of the committee had shown the need of a business administration, evidencing the sums voted for Quebec Harbor, Welland Canal and Trent Canal as showing a waste of money. He had opposed the $15,000,000 vote to the Welland Canal. That canal, engineers had said, would cost $15,000,000 of the people's money. It charged no tolls, but provided water competition in the east against the railroads. The speaker charged higher rates in the West.

Changes in the Grain Act were not so far-reaching as he would have liked to see. Provision, however, was made for one farmer on each survey board, and Mr. Soles, chief of the grading division, had promised that in each elevator there should be posted a copy of the regulations governing the principal grades so that farmers would know.

Couldn't Cut Estimates

Dealing with the need of economy, Mr. Coote said he and other western members got very much discouraged at moving reductions in the estimates with no results. The "pork barrel," he said, exists at Ottawa to too great an extent.

The speaker went somewhat extensively into the matter of the Crow's Nest rates, and said the Progressives were practically forced to vote for the measure, eventually adopted, retaining the old rates east on grain and flour, under pain that too much opposition would take away even this measure of security.

In closing, he thanked the people of the constituency for the confidence they had always placed in him, and hoped he had been able to merit it.

Following his nomination, Mr. Coote, in accepting, said he did not crave the nomination. A number of testimonies were interjected at this point. E. J. Leavitt of Glenwood saying: "He won't have to fight very hard; he's got an easy opponent." There was some talk about campaign funds, and the executive was empowered to make what ever levy the locals believed to be necessary. The last election had cost some $2,300.

Mr. Coote said that one of the distinguishing things about the U. F. A. political movement was that there were no campaign funds, as that term was understood in the old days. "There is only one place for it to come from and that is from you. See that the fund is subscribed in your own constituency and that you know where every dollar comes from," he urged. If the U. F. A. kept the organization clean and free from outside influence he had no doubt of the result at the next election.

Resolutions

Quite a list of resolutions came up for consideration. One asked that some way be found to take applications for hail insurance from farmers living outside any organized municipality. This was carried.

Rocky Coulee local asked that municipalities be made responsible for cutting weeds on road allowances, the present law requiring the adjoining farmers to cut the weeds working a hardship in taking him away from his summerfallowing when he was most needed to fight weeds on his own land. One delegate objected on the ground that, like other things left to the government to do, it wouldn't be done. The motion was lost.

Rocky Coulee local also took a rap at the newspapers in a resolution deploring the publicity given to divorces, scandal and crime for the purpose of turning the minds of farmers from economic problems to his confusion. The resolution strongly opposed the motion, saying that, as a member of the U. F. A. central executive, he knew it was impossible to make the "U. F. A." a daily newspaper. The resolution lost by a large majority.

WHERE IS PREMIER GREENFIELD?

When the Royal Grain Commission was sitting in Vancouver last summer, there was a great deal of fuss made by the Greenfield Government, represented by Mr. Van Allen, over the charge of five cents per ton wharfage. That year Alberta had a crop of over 100,000,000 bushels of wheat. This year it should have the same.

But why should Premier Greenfield's Government get excited about a charge of five cents per TON and overlook altogether the loss to the Alberta farmer of the premium on Vancouver wheat amounting from five to ten cents per BUSHEL?

On October 30th, 1923, Alberta's wheat was selling on the Liverpool market at $1.52 for No. 1 Northern; the Fort William price was 97 cents, a spread of 54 cents. On March 29th, 1924, Alberta wheat was selling in Liverpool at $1.37 for No. 1 Northern; the Fort William price was 96 cents, a spread of 40 cents.

The Vancouver price is always five to ten cents over the Fort William price, but THE FORT WILLIAM PRICE, not the Vancouver price, is the one paid to the Alberta farmer.

These Fort William figures, less the rail freight, represent a spread between the Liverpool price and the price paid the Alberta farmer, ranging from 40 cents to 70 cents per bushel. Surely it does not cost that much money to handle a bushel of grain from Alberta to Liverpool.

What, then, is Premier Greenfield doing to reduce this spread? What stand did he take on the iniquitous "permit" system against Vancouver? What is he doing today to secure Crows Nest grain rates westward? Are his sentiments in favor of or against the people of the Peace River getting a Coast outlet? Will he hinder or help the establishing in Vancouver of a cash grain market for the Alberta farmer?

Some hard work by Alberta's Premier could secure for the grain grower another five to ten cents per bushel. And the Alberta farmer, not the Winnipeg grain dealer, is the man who is entitled to that five or ten cent premium on Vancouver wheat.

But if the Alberta farmer wants to enforce his right and collect his money, Premier Greenfield will have to get busy.—Vancouver Sun.

BRYAN, MAN AND MEMORY

William Jennings Bryan, three times candidate for the Presidency of United States, champion defender of "fundamentalism" and chief of the passing school of American spellbinders, ate a hearty meal Sunday noon, then retired to his bedroom and died.

The man who above all other contemporary Americans lived a controlled spiritual life, succumbed at last to the uncontrolled elements in his physical life.

Bryan died despising science. Science, in the form of food chemistry, could have saved him. It is difficult to understand the mental mystery that permits a man to be at one time a spiritual ascetic and a gustatorial libertine.

But that paradox was the keynote of Bryan's life. His thoughts and principles were perhaps more lofty than those of most American public men. But in practice, as Secretary of State under Woodrow Wilson, his mind apparently could not rise above the mediocrities of small party politics.

William Jennings Bryan was the great American emotionalist. For 30 years he stirred the hearts and imaginations of the American people. Like a great tragedy, a great poem or a great painting, he was a powerful emotional stimulant, and, as such, a purifying influence in the emotional life of the nation.

Bryan, man and memory, will leave a tremendous mark upon unwritten American history. For, written as was his philosophy and insatiable as was his greed for notoriety, the moving power of his oratory and the beauty of his words can never be erased from American consciousness.

No ripple upon the pool of humanity's emotions is ever completely lost.

WHO WILL RULE THE PACIFIC?

As the first movement in the proposed gradual concentration of American naval strength in the Pacific Ocean, United States will transfer the base of its rigid dirigibles, Shenandoah and Los Angeles, from Lakehurst, New Jersey, to San Diego, California. San Diego is to be made the greatest air base in the world.

The reason is that the Pacific Ocean is today the most important body of water on earth, and the bowl of the Pacific the theater of the next century's international drama.

In ancient days the world's meeting place was the Mediterranean. In the age of Carthage and Rome, control of the Mediterranean meant sovereignty.

In later European days, control of the Atlantic meant supreme power. Today, control of the Pacific means world leadership.

But this control will not be based on battleships or armament bases. It will be based on trade.

One busy factory on the shore of the Pacific Ocean will do more to establish sovereignty in the Pacific than ten naval bases.

England, energetically building cruisers, seems to have forgotten that fact.

With the ultimate fate of the Twentieth Century resting in the bowl of the Pacific, the British people can best secure safety, not by pouring industrial money into building armaments of war, but by building armaments of commerce.

DEMOCRACY

Lord Curzon's will, says a London despatch, contains information of such a delicate nature about various cabinet transactions that it will have to be suppressed for a few years anyway.

Britain is the greatest democracy on earth.

If, in this greatest democracy on earth, Government leaders cannot even yet take the public into their confidence, the earth can boast very little democracy.

The democratic system of government is forever between the devil and the deep sea.

If a little group of leaders submit every issue to the uncertain temperament of the public, no business would be done because the public forms its opinions largely on prejudice and impulse.

If, on the other hand, those leaders submit nothing to the public, there is no immediate check on their policies, and bureaucracy results.

The greatest need in any democracy is an educated public opinion, capable of reacting to governmental action on the basis of the facts. The man in the street should be at least 75 per cent as well-informed as the man in the cabinet.

And the only agency in any country working towards that end is the daily press. Newspapers are one of the biggest factors in democracy.

INDUSTRIAL PROSPERITY

If Canada is to take her rightful place in the Empire she must be developed industrially and not merely exploited for her raw materials.

England says she will buy her wheat from us. She will take our mineral ores.

What Canada wants is not a market for raw materials but a market for manufactured products. And until Canada gets into the manufacturing business she will never prosper.

There is no money in raw materials. Canadians dig out $10 worth of ore. American or British industrialists take that ore, manufacture it and make from $50 to $100 on it. On her own minerals, Canada makes only from a fifth to a tenth of what foreign industrialists make on them.

The prosperity of any country is commensurate to the ability of that country to provide lucrative work for its people.

If a prosperous, populous Canada is of any value to the British Empire, British industrial capital must establish distributing and manufacturing bases on this coast facing the great Oriental markets.

A decentralization of British men and British money is the one big factor in imperial development.

BATTLESHIPS AND DOLES

Under the pressure of national emergency Great Britain's Cabinet deadlock has been broken and seven new battleships will be built.

It is a difficult thing to build battleships with a million-and-a-half men walking the streets with out jobs and millions of dollars going out of the treasury to feed them.

It is hard to convince men that they should pay out money for defense when they have no jobs nor prospects to defend.

The truth is that these days a country can only build up a strong defense in proportion to the value of its industries. As Britain's unemployment increases and her industrial lead is lessened, she will find it increasingly hard to summon up the patriotic sentiment essential to a battleship-building programme.

The British Cabinet is not really deadlocked over the naval policy at all. Fundamentally it is deadlocked over the industrial situation.

And the only measure that will improve that industrial situation is a decentralization of British population and money.

Still to be neat, still to be drest,
As you were going to a feast;
Still to be powdered, still perfumed;

All is not sweet, all is not sound.

That makes simplicity a grace;

Such sweet neglect more taketh me
Than all the adulteries of art;
They strike mine eyes, but not my heart.

In the old days a turned-down glass meant that you were a teetotaler. Now it means that you are suspicious.

What Greece desires, apparently, is a ruler who can make a nation great without much raw material.

Correct this sentence: "The pie looks good," said the small boy, "but I never eat between meals."

ARISE

Sister, awake! close not your eyes!
The day her light discloses,
And the bright morning doth arise
Out of her bed of roses.

See the clear sun, the world's bright eye,
In at our window peeping;
Lo, how he blusheth to spy
Us idle wenchies sleeping!

Therefore awake! make haste, I say,
And let us, without staying,
All in our gowns of green so gay
Into the Park a-maying!

THE WIND BELLS

Listening to the glassy tinkle
Of the painted Japanese
Wind-bells swaying in the breeze
Michael sees
Butterflies of light that twinkle
Round the walls with golden glance.

Glancing, dancing to the ringing
Of the crystal wind-bells swinging.
As he stands there listening, dreaming,
Fairer even than the flight
Of the butterflies of light
Flit the bright
Fancies in his blue eyes gleaming—
In his happy heart a rarer,
Rarer, fairer music singing
Than the wind-bells' crystal ringing.

BUY AT HOME SPEND YOUR MONEY IN MACLEOD

Purchases representing thousands of dollars are lost to us, to our trade, to our clerks and employees, to our laborers and artisans, to all the people of Macleod who exist on the products of their work. This money, if spent at home, would help to recreate Macleod financially, give a wider field of activities in business, would be helpful to every resident of this town.

If we purchased regularly from local merchants, this money would circulate in Macleod in a welcome manner. Our merchants merit our patronage; it is to our interest, and the duty of all of us to encourage the local merchant. He is one of us, he lives among us, he has the right to be encouraged by us, he is anxious to have our custom, and to give us satisfaction. We should under all circumstances give him preference, price for price, quality for quality. And nearly always the price that our local merchant asks is, if we compare the quality, just as cheap as that of the outside merchant.

Never purchase merchandise by catalogues from foreign houses before assuring yourself that you cannot procure the same articles, of the same quality (and frequently of better quality) at the same price from your local merchant.

BISON TAKEN FROM WAINWRIGHT HOMING BACK TO THE OLD HOME

EDMONTON, Aug. 3.—The bulk of the buffalo herd shipped from Wainwright national park to the wood bison reserve in the far north recently, is reported to be on its way back home again.

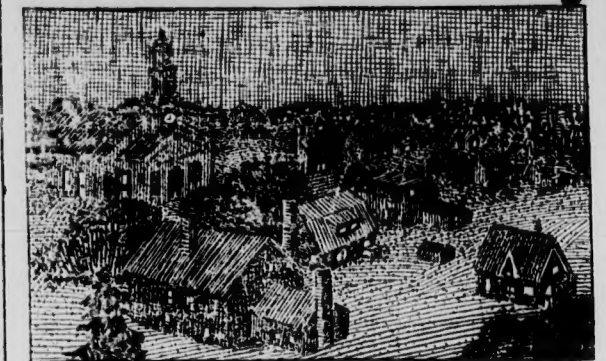

According to trappers reaching this city the animals are making their way through the northern woods, fording rivers and overcoming obstacles. A large herd is reported to have been seen in the vicinity of Fort Chipewyan, a herd of about 100 by the broad waters of Lake Athabasca and a maze of channels and swamps.

More than 1600 bison were shipped north by rail and across to roam at liberty on the fringe of the Arctic circle.

It has been demonstrated, however, that the best way to end war is to get out of the trenches and fight.

Bee-keepers of Central and Northern Alberta held a gathering in Edmonton the past week, and made preliminary plans for an organization in this part of the province, to affiliate with a province-wide organization. The gathering was addressed by Frank C. Pellatt, editor of the American Bee Journal, of Hamilton, Ill., and by R. M. Newton, President of the Manitoba Beekeepers' Association. Alberta's Freight Rate Case
The Province of Alberta will present a united front to the Railway Commission on the question of freight rates when that body commences its general investigation into the question.

At a conference held in Edmonton last Wednesday at the instance of the Alberta Government, at which representatives of the Boards of Trade of Edmonton and Calgary and of other interests were present, the following general points were decided upon for presentation to the Commission. Alberta's counsel in the enquiry will be S. B. Woods, K.C.

(1) That the standard of mileage freight tariff scale should be as far as possible be on the same basis as all over Canada.

(2) That the distributing town tariffs should continue as at present, namely, 85% of the standard mileage basis in the West.

(3) That the charge for any commodity to Calgary and Edmonton from Eastern Canada should not be greater than that charged from the same points to Vancouver.

(4) That the basis of export rates on grain and flour applicable to Fort William should apply to the Pacific coast.

(5) Reduction in coal rates to develop markets east and west.

(6) Adjustment of export rates via both seaboards in order to develop further markets for the primary products of Alberta and for necessary reductions in import rates to meet the requirements of the Province.

(7) Adjustment of class rates on the shorter C. N. R. Mileage.

(8) Adjustment of rates as between distributing centres.

The matter of details in regard to equalization of rates generally and the securing of commodity rates suitable to the needs was left in the hands of a small committee consisting of the Chairman, Mr. J. H. Traister, A. Chard, Supervisor of Traffic for the Alberta Government, and Mr. S. B. Woods, Counsel for the Province of Alberta.

A thorough discussion of the many points at issue took place and an amicable solution reached by the conference in all cases. All interested expressed themselves as well pleased with the results of the meeting.

MUNICIPAL DISTRICT OF BRIGHT IS BUILDING ROADS

The council of the Municipality of Bright held their regular meeting on Saturday, August 1, with a good attendance of members. After the routine business was disposed of the road question occupied the attention of the council until late in the evening. Each councillor rendered accounts for work in their districts, which has been done during the past month. More road work has been done by the municipality this year than any year in the history of the district. Bright Municipality will soon boast of more roads, and better roads than any other district. Market roads are the roads that are receiving attention.

The chief objection to the white collic is that it isn't white and isn't collic.

emphatically that the western crop should run from 360,000,000 to 375,000,000 bushels.

"These western representatives held a week's convention in Winnipeg and are taking two days out of the week this year to visit the head of the lakes."

RHUBARB
Nearly every home garden has a few rods of rhubarb. The crop requires but little work and care and yields generously.

Autumn planting is satisfactory and is preferred to spring planting if roots are brought from distant nurseries, as shoots commence to grow in very early spring. Red-stalked varieties are in favour. Some new varieties such as "Ruby" developed by the Central Experimental Farm, Ottawa, and the Macdonald College rhubarb possess distinct advantages over many old-time commercial varieties.

Many people seek information upon the causes of plants sending forth many seed stalks, and what had best be done under the circumstances. Of course, it is the nature of plants to attempt to produce seeds but this production of seed stalks is stimulated when plants do not receive fair treatment. When stalks are harvested very closely and late in the season the plants become weakened.

To get pleasing results from the rhubarb plantation it is well to always leave a few leaf stalks on the plant, remove seed stalks as soon as they appear by cutting off near the end of June, and fertilize heavily in early July. This treatment will give the plants a chance to become, and remain, sturdy and to store up much reserve food which will provide resources for the sending out of a heavy crop of sturdy stalks the next spring. Well rotted cow manure is excellent fertilizer and this may be supplemented with commercial fertilizers if even better results are desired.

Exercise of Power
But any power or right, reserved by any such contract to purchase, lease or other arrangements to the government in council or to the minister of the interior or any other officer of the government of Canada, may be specified by the legislature thereof from time to time, and until otherwise directed, may be exercised by the minister of municipalities of the province.

Premier Greenfield is the present minister of municipalities for Alberta proposals.

Other clauses of the proposed agreement set for the following: The province agrees to satisfy any claims of the Hudson's Bay Co. entitled to be put forward in respect to public lands, out of such public lands administered by the province. In the same way, the province agrees to satisfy any claims lawfully put forward by or on behalf of grantees of lands by way of subsidy for the construction of railways or otherwise in accordance with the provisions of any statute of Canada.

School Lands Fund
Under the agreement, the Dominion will transfer to the province money or securities constituting school lands funds, so far as the fund is derived from the disposition of any school lands within the province. The interest of the Dominion of Canada in the waters of the province shall continue to be vested in the crown and administration by the government of Canada for the purposes of Canada.

All rights of fisheries, however, except those specifically excluded in the agreement, shall belong to and be administered by the province, which may dispose of them by sale, license or otherwise, subject only to the legislative jurisdiction of the parliament of Canada.

Indian Lands Excluded
All lands included in Indian reserves within the province, including those selected and surveyed but not yet confirmed, as well as those confirmed, shall continue to be vested in the crown and administered by the government of Canada.

The province will from time to time, upon the request of the superintendent of Indian affairs, set aside out of accepted lands transferred to the province such further areas as necessary to enable Canada to fulfil its obligations under the treaties with Indians of the province.

To all treaty Indians the province assures the right to hunt and fish on all unoccupied crown lands.

Rail Statement Withheld
Premier Herbert Greenfield informed The Herald this morning that the northern railway problem would not be laid before the legislature until Tuesday morning. The Monday session was devoted to the premier's statement on the natural resources situation.

Mr. Greenfield admitted that the government had received a proposal from the Royal Bank for the settlement of the $2,400,000 claim against the Edmonton, Dunvegan and British Columbia Railway. The cabinet, however, had not yet had time to discuss the offer, he said; therefore, he could not disclose its details.

Mortgage Payment Mooted
It is understood that the Royal Bank has proposed that the debt be paid off the mortgage on the E.D. and B.C. and acquire title to the line. The main point is whether the mortgage is to be paid off 100 cents on the dollar.

D. C. Coleman, western vice-president of the C.P.R., which is operating the E.D. and B.C. for the government, called on the premier this morning, but denied afterwards that his visit had anything to do with the northern railway question.

Common Carrier Bill
A common carrier pipe line bill will be introduced at the short session of the legislature, and probably given first reading this afternoon.

The Herald was given this information direct from the government. It was stated that the new bill will govern transportation of both oil and gas. The measure will be based to a large extent on similar legislation adopted in states of the union where there are large oil fields and where experience has adapted common carrier legislation to the latest problems of oil and gas development.

Wide Powers Proposed
Owing to the short time available to examine into such legislation it is proposed that large powers in making regulations to govern oil and gas pipe lines as common carriers shall be vested in the executive council. The cabinet will thus be able to issue the necessary regulations between the present short session and the next regular session of the house. In this respect the bill will be quite similar to the Coal Sales Act already on the books of the province.

Administration of common carrier problems and settlement of disputes over common carrier lines under the new act, may be laid before the Alberta public utility board for adjudication by a clause of the bill which enables the executive council to refer such questions to the board for determination.

RESOURCES FACT LACKS FIN. APPROVAL OF FEDERAL CABINET

EDMONTON, Aug. 3.—Copies of the proposed agreement for the transfer by the Dominion of Canada to the province of Alberta of all the natural resources lying within the borders of the province, were laid before the legislature Monday afternoon by Premier Herbert Greenfield.

In submitting the agreement, the premier addressed the house briefly setting forth these points:

That the proposed agreement, drafted by Premier Greenfield and Attorney-General Brownlee, together with Hon. Charles Stewart, minister of the interior for Canada, and O. M. Biggar, K.C., advising, has not yet met the final approval of the federal cabinet;

That Premier Mackenzie King's latest telegram of July 29 last, states the federal cabinet cannot reassemble to finally consider the proposed agreement for at least three weeks yet;

That Premier Mackenzie King, in a letter under date of June 30, which Mr. Greenfield read to the legislature, stated that the federal cabinet had given some preliminary consideration to the agreement, and hoped to finally conclude the negotiations subject to approval of the Alberta legislature and the federal parliament.

In this letter, Premier King said: "I think I may safely say that in view of the substantial progress made, there appears to be no reason why it should not be possible to have the agreement as concluded placed before our parliament at the opening of its next session."

The essential points of the proposed agreement transferring the natural resources to the control of Alberta, are the following:

That the Dominion will pay to the province of Alberta for three years after the agreement takes effect the annual sum of $562,500 to meet the outlay of the province in carrying out the provisions of the agreement arranging to administer the public lands under the agreement.

Subject to Trusts
That the interest of the Dominion government in, and all sums due and payable for lands, mines, minerals and royalties, after the agreement takes effect, shall belong to the province, subject to any trusts existing in respect thereof.

Any payments received by the Dominion for such lands, mines, minerals or royalties, whether advance or arrears, prior to the coming into effect of the agreement, shall be retained by the Dominion. Section 3 of the agreement reads: "At the request of Canada, made on behalf of all such persons as may have entered into any contract to purchase or lease any lands, mines or minerals, or may have otherwise become entitled to any interest therein as against the crown, the province agrees to carry out every such contract, or to arrange for the carrying out of the same, in accordance with the terms thereof, and further agrees not to affect or alter any terms of such contract to purchase, lease or other arrangement by legislation or otherwise, except so far as any legislation may apply generally to all similar agreements relating to lands, mines or minerals in the province or to interests therein, irrespective of whom may be the parties thereto."

Exercise of Power
But any power or right, reserved by any such contract to purchase, lease or other arrangements to the government in council or to the minister of the interior or any other officer of the government of Canada, may be specified by the legislature thereof from time to time, and until otherwise directed, may be exercised by the minister of municipalities of the province.

COMMON CARRIER PIPE LINE FOR THE ALBERTA LEGISLATURE MEANS PROLONGING THE SESSION

EDMONTON, Aug. 3.—The introduction in the legislature this afternoon by the government of a "common carrier" pipeline bill, to deal with the situation which has developed in connection with the attempt of the gas and transportation company to construct a pipeline from Turner Valley to the Imperial Oil refinery at Calgary kills the fond hopes of legislative members particularly in the Farmer ranks, that this concluding portion of the 1923 session which opened this afternoon will be brief and uneventful.

Something of a storm is brewing over the application of this subsidiary branch of the International Utilities Corporation to build the southern pipeline, the situation being akin to the one of the 1921 session of the legislature when the Imperial Oil company asked for pipeline rights. At that time, Hon. George Hoadley, then in the opposition ranks and now minister of agriculture, waged an unrelenting war on the application of the Imperial Oil company and he declares he is still of the same opinion, that "common carrier" rights be guaranteed in any pipeline concessions granted in the province.

Pointed Questions
R. C. Marshall, Liberal member for Calgary, will ask the government that a royal commission be appointed to examine into the particulars of the recent sale of the Calgary and Edmonton gas companies to the American combine, called the International Utilities Co. Mr. Marshall, it is understood, will also ask a series of questions of the government referring to the powers of the public utilities board over such corporations. It is contended that the transfer of the Edmonton and Calgary franchises did not entirely conform to the Alberta Utilities Act.

It is stated by the government that the new bill will govern the carriage of both oil and gas in the province, this being modelled on the legislation existing in some of the American states, for the time being to give the executive council somewhat wide powers to regulate traffic in this province.

FRENCH PLAN TO SETTLE DEBT IS NOT ACCEPTABLE TO THE BRITISH
LONDON, July 31.—Wide divergence of views between British and French government financial experts regarding settlement of France's war debt to Great Britain has resulted in at least a temporary breakdown in the preliminary negotiations which began here last week, and the French commission will return to Paris today. While complete reserve is maintained in official circles, it is understood that the French experts will report to their foreign office that they found it impossible to reconcile the French and British viewpoints on the debt question.

The French delegates went to London with the intention of settling the debt in regard to minimum and maximum terms for a settlement and it is thought that the maximum terms offered on behalf of France proved below British expectations.

British official quarters are not pessimistic regarding the debt negotiations and confidence is expressed that, after the French government has considered the report of their delegates, the commission will be sent back to London for further conferences.

At the treasury this morning it was explained that the situation has by no means reached a deadlock, the difficulties having been encountered merely upon technical points. The important problems of the settlement have not yet been considered, it is stated.

French Report
PARIS, July 31.—The return of the French delegates from their debt funding mission to England was referred to at this morning's meeting of the cabinet by Finance Minister Caillaux, who, according to the official communiqué issued afterward, said that the French and British viewpoints still were materially divergent. Nevertheless, the first step toward bringing them together had been taken and the French delegates were returning to Paris to inform him of the state of the negotiations, he said.

Sheltering Pigs From THE SUN
Growing pigs, especially White ones, are very subject to sunscald if allowed to run in grass or rape without shade. A very effective shade has been provided at the Experimental Station at Roostern in the following manner. In the spring of 1917, caranaga seeds were sown in twelve rows, four feet apart, across the rear of the big pastures, and fenced to keep all stock out. The ground was kept carefully hoed till 1920 when further work could not be carried on because of the thick root system and the branches, which by this time shaded the ground sufficiently to another weed growth. In 1919 the plants were thinned to one foot apart and the thinnings sold to a nursery at 1 cent each, which netted $125. In 1922 the fence was removed, and the pigs allowed to use the shelter. It is in use now for the third season, and affords a very efficient and artistic shelter. Cattle, sheep and horses must be kept away from caranaga because they seem to relish it as much as grass. Mature hogs will also eat it if pasture is not available.

If officials should take the pledge not to drink, why not insult them further and demand a pledge not to steal?

About 87 per cent of the people who think they could run the country safely let their radiators freeze.

In this democratic country only a few have the grand manner and most of them are traffic cops?

FORESEES TIME WHEN S. ALBERTA HAS SEVENTEEN SUGAR FACTORIES
KELOWNA, B.C., July 31.—That the sugar beet industry newly established in Southern Alberta would revolutionize conditions in the irrigated areas on the prairies, was the assertion of A. E. Palmer, in the course of his address on the possibilities of the sugar beet industry, was of the opinion that the results of the first season's operations were so pleasing that it would practically certain that there would be at least 11,000 acres in beet serving the factory next year. This would be the factory's full capacity and by 1927 another factory would be necessary to take care of the produce of the acreage under beets.

Factories Possible
Mr. Palmer visualized the time when there would be seventeen sugar factories in the irrigated areas of Southern Alberta. Mr. Palmer's address was listened to with considerable interest by the delegates of British Columbia. He doubted the possibility of establishing the industry immediately in British Columbia because of the higher cost of the land and the water in this province.

ST. LAWRENCE CANAL OPENS WAY TO FORTY MILLIONS
CEDAR POINT, Ohio, July 29.—The completion of the St. Lawrence-Great Lakes waterway project will do for the Mississippi valley what the Panama canal has done for the Atlantic and Pacific coasts, W. L. Harding of Des Moines, former governor of Iowa, declared, equally he prepared for delivery today at the convention of the National Hay Association here.

There are forty million people adjacent to the Great Lakes who are landlocked—that is, they are shut off from ocean transportation," he said. "These people want to ship their products out, equally they want to buy from the outside."

"The St. Lawrence, if opened to big boats, will make it possible for them to get out and for the rest of the world to get into them. It means the removing of a barrier that now retards trade and stifles progress. Forty million people are waiting getting to the purpose of trade."

LAST FRENCH SOLDIER HAS LEFT THE RUHR
PARIS, Aug. 1.—Official announcement was made this afternoon that French evacuation of the Ruhr is complete. Not a single French soldier remained in the mining and industrial basin after midnight last night.

The entry of the French forces into the Ruhr took place January 11, 1923. It caused much ink to flow and entire pages of newspapers were devoted to the report of the operation designed to bring about payment by Germany of her reparations obligations. The evacuation, which has been going on for the past two weeks, however, has been virtually ignored by the French press and by the general public.

Church Bells Ring
ESSEN, Aug. 1.—At 12 o'clock last night all church bells here rung to observe the official termination of the occupation of the Ruhr by allied troops. Flags were flown throughout the city and the inhabitants rejoiced.

PROTECTION AGAINST MOSQUITOES
Certain protective mixtures applied to the skin are of great value in warding off mosquitoes, blackflies and similar pests, especially when the insects are very numerous. A number of formulas for such mixtures are given in a pamphlet on the methods of protection against mosquitoes and blackflies, just issued by the Entomological Branch of the Dominion Government of Agriculture. A mixture recommended by the author is composed of 3 ounces of oil of citronella, 1 of spirits of camphor, 1 of oil of tar, 1 of an ounce of oil of pennyroyal and from 4 to 6 ounces of castor oil. Another mixture consists of 2 ounces of citronella, 1 of an ounce of pennyroyal and 2 ounces of castor oil. Castor oil is included to prevent injury to the skin. Tallow may be used instead if it is desired to have the mixture in the form of a paste. When the insects are abundant it is necessary to apply the mixture at least once every half hour, using liberal quantities and rubbing it thoroughly over the hands and face. Care should be taken to have a sufficient quantity of a mixture when on an extended trip in the woods. At least an ounce per

The Carnival and sports held on Tuesday and Wednesday, August 4th and 5th, was an affair of more than usual interest and merit, but was poorly attended. The local management are to be congratulated on having put on a nice program and carried it out in a clean sportsmanlike manner. The Abner K. Kline midway proved to be one of the best shows of its kind ever seen in the west. The only deplorable feature of the Midway was that skin games were allowed to run full swing with the result that many local people were fleeced out of considerable amounts in cash. If it is a fact that dice games for money are illegal in public places a question naturally arises as to why such were allowed to be in operation at the carnival—not running covertly, but brazenly—and apparently with the presumption of protection on the part of the operators. Of course the local management cannot in fairness be held responsible, as having no official status, they were powerless to officially veto the individual members of the midway in their scramble for easy money.

CLAIMED BLOOD RESERVE STRAYS NOT ADVISED SUFFICIENTLY

Complaints are being made by residents of Macleod district in regards to stray stock picked up in the Blood Reserve not being advertised in all publications circulated in this territory—many farmers do not subscribe to a daily paper and therefore advertising in the Lethbridge Herald is claimed by them to be inadequate. Their contention that the stock should be advertised in all the weekly papers in the district contiguous to the reserve seems eminently reasonable and the fact of the publicity not being given in all the weekly papers involved possibly does not reflect favorably on the "powers that be" on the Blood agency.
